

Waterfront Toronto's Survey About Quayside - October 2020

fortunate to work down by the waterfront outside. Perhaps a program can be set up that can offer opportunities to clean the shoreline, maintain trees, plants, landscaping public realms and collecting garbage close to the water before it ends up in our lake.

153	Yes. Lots of good things going on. Beware foolish things like giving too much control to corporations for the development of things like the Google boondoggle. Public interest must be vested in the public... an inclusive public... NOT corporate interests. We need way more truly affordable housing. Not 600 units, but 6000 or 60000 much more likely. Seniors, people with disabilities, newcomers, etc must all have integrated access and opportunity to live in waterfront communities. Also... more thought needs be given to the fact that's on the water... what does that mean? how do we engage with Niigaani Gichigami (aka Lake Ontario)? we are not just land based people... we are on the water... what might that mean to not just "develop" land... but more fully engage people and water???? environmental concerns for water are only part of it... rain water run off, etc... How do we become more water engaged? how is that included in this planning? It's a serious oversight.	10/18/2020 11:39 AM
154	Appreciate the outreach!	10/18/2020 11:26 AM
155	I know this is about Quayside but to the west (Music Garden) there is a need for public washrooms. Many people want to spend time enjoying the waterfront but there are no facilities so people have been forced to use public spaces to relieve themselves (I know this because I can see from my balcony).	10/18/2020 11:04 AM
156	.	10/18/2020 9:48 AM
157	This chunk of land is unceded native land - there needs to be recognition of that and governance structures have to incorporate indigenous communities. Black communities, indigenous communities, and racialized communities are disproportionately affected by the for-profit condo and corporate developments. Part of the City's commitment to anti-racism needs to be preserving this space as one that preserves the natural environment and intentionally prioritizes marginalized community access. This includes subsidized housing - (e.g. TCHC buildings).	10/18/2020 9:22 AM
158	No	10/18/2020 8:51 AM
159	You're doing important work that will help define us as a city for generations.	10/18/2020 8:41 AM
160	Where were the points where we could have been engaged in the project at an earlier phase? How can we continue to be engaged in a meaningful way?	10/17/2020 10:45 PM
161	You have a unique opportunity to really make the east waterfront a vibrant place. The west waterfront from Jarvis to Ontario place is a dead zone wity very little attractions or F&B to keep people there after dusk. The East needs to have venues - think opera houses, theaters, concert halls along with large pedestrian only restaurant districts (think European cities - Dublin, Copenhagen)	10/17/2020 9:49 PM
162	More green spaces in the core of the city and better access to the lake	10/17/2020 7:50 PM
163	Please be concerned about the decrease in the use of the term "sustainable" and its replacement by the word "resilient," a real estate buzzword if there ever was one.	10/17/2020 7:17 PM
164	Ensure that housing is a mix of subsidized and market value, perhaps a 20/80 or 30/70 subsidized/market	10/17/2020 7:13 PM
165	I don't know when public (not for profit) housing turned into affordable housing but I don't like it	10/17/2020 7:02 PM
166	We need safe, accessible, and hygienic public washrooms (with attendents servicing them like in many European cities).	10/17/2020 5:47 PM on our streets, and I care more about housing those people than the profitability of any developer. Housing as a human right. Solve this first the rest is fluff.

173	Please not another generic Toronto development with a rexall and chain restaurant	10/17/2020 7:36 AM
174	lake side is a diverse community and a tourist attraction , policing and safety is a priority	10/17/2020 4:36 AM
175	AFFORDABLE HOUSING	10/17/2020 12:14 AM
176	Quayside is one of the last, if not the last, piece of large land in the downtown Waterfront area. Waterfront Toronto has worked so hard to bring more condos (live) and offices (work) to the Waterfront area but the entertainment aspect (play) is lacking. Almost everyone I talk to agrees and feels the same way. I really hope Quayside can be a highly needed cultural and entertainment site for all Waterfront residents, employees, city residents and everyone who visits! I would love to see a cultural site like an iconic opera house to define our skyline and provide entrainment. Maybe also a retail complex with a movie theatre. It would be nice to have the U shaped area be pedestrian only boulevards filled with restaurants, retail, music and green spaces/a public square to hold events. Lastly the U shaped area should also be animated and dynamic, hosting water activities such as flyboarding, jet skiing, canoeing, kayaking, etc.	10/16/2020 10:45 PM
177	It's impossible to do it all and please everyone. Please have a concept and focus and stick to the priorities to have this materialize.	10/16/2020 10:02 PM

184	The waterfront is so much improved with awesome public spaces, as plan is rolled out. Wish there were more links/access to the water...ie floating docks for Transient boaters....floating attractions etc. Not sad to see Sidewalk pull out...chance to do something truly local	10/16/2020 7:17 PM
185	Bring google smart city back.	10/16/2020 7:16 PM
186	One of the most significant problems with the last attempt to develop Quayside was the non-transparent, exclusionary, and disingenuous process Waterfront Toronto pursued in developing the project goals, developing the RFP, selecting a winning proponent, and engaging with the public. There has been extensive, in-depth critique of what was done and recommendations given for a participatory, ethical process where the public interest is prioritized and what that would look like. I sincerely hope that those recommendations will be adopted, and if they are, Waterfront Toronto will need to engage the public a whole lot more than sending out this short, superficial survey before developing an RFP.	10/16/2020 7:06 PM
187	Wildlife preservation needs to be a priority as part of public education, program development, and vision for how to use the space	10/16/2020 5:53 PM
188	no	10/16/2020 2:31 PM
189	Waterfront Toronto is an important and professionally committed organization to life in Toronto. With very few missteps, it is a model to how to do city planning. Very transparent and consultative.	10/16/2020 11:51 AM
190	Please don't make this a neoliberal hellscape :)	10/16/2020 11:42 AM
191	Aspire to architectural excellence. Consider off-the-shelf, proven ideas that are not currently in-use, in Toronto. Examples: Snowmelt systems under sidewalks and/or at transit (could Enwave support this?) stops. Enhanced permeability to reduce storm water run off and ice formation during melt conditions. Look to Amsterdam on buried garbage vaults for public receptacles that require fewer pick-ups. Consider recycling vending machines that take back bottles or other highly recyclable materials.	10/16/2020 11:34 AM
192	There should be less big name restaurants and more small businesses	10/16/2020 11:14 AM

Waterfront Toronto's Survey About Quayside - October 2020

193	While I understand and appreciate the need for the City of Toronto to build respite sites, shelters, and safe spaces for people who are precariously housed, the presence of these spaces has led to unsafe situations for me and my family. Consideration of how these spaces can co-exist with small children should be made public (i.e. what are the tradeoffs policy makers are comfortable with, and where is the line)	10/16/2020 10:58 AM
194	Need more investment in north york.	10/16/2020 10:49 AM
195	This development needs to avoid the pitfalls that the previous Sidewalk proposal had regarding privacy and use of data. There needs to be a real commitment and follow-through on affordable housing including deep affordability, and potentially alternative ownership models to allow residents to build long-term equity in their homes and community.	10/16/2020 10:32 AM
196	there are areas of the portlands and waterfront - such as cherry beach - that I think are successful as they are..the combination of nature, industry and urbanity. I find that city planners and landscape architects sometimes create overly planned, sterile and manicured and spaces - like the north section of sherbourne common. less paved and "programmed" areas and more wild patches with native plants would be preferable.. sometime less is more. sugar beach and underpass park are successful examples..more of this please. another glaring issue - and this is happening all over Toronto - is the lack of interesting retail or spaces that remain unleased due to unaffordability.. so the only retail is banks and american chains. banks should not be allowed to take over entire storefronts. other cities such as NYC do not allow for these kind of block busting retails spaces. why is there a starbucks in the Daniels building 'City of the Arts" when there is one across the street inside Loblaws? This creates mind numbing souless streets. How about creating incentives for more local businesses.. tax companies that leave their retail spaces vacant to create startup grants for small independant business and entrepreneurs?	10/16/2020 10:29 AM
197	With the ability to design such a large community, this should be taken as an opportunity to design the best possible version of Toronto, free from restrictions NIMBYism and adjacent contexts would normally restrict us with. The freedom to design such good cities which support the broadest range of people, in density and diversity, should be rewarded with more investment by the city compared to exclusionary areas like Riverdale.	10/16/2020 10:19 AM
198	please prioritize architecture and do things that are as great as what sidewalk labs was going to do	10/16/2020 7:06 AM
199	How do I get my name on a list for a co-op housing apt. if there is one on Quayside?	10/15/2020 9:22 PM
200	Would love it if there are more grocery stores to go along with these new developments. Condos are built, but shopping (grocery) is rarely incorporated. Also better connected spaces to TTC routes.	10/15/2020 7:53 PM
201	No	10/15/2020 6:54 PM
202	I would like to see a lot more effort taken to recognize that Toronto has four seasons. Waterfront Toronto has been better than most in this regards, but still more needs to be done to make public spaces safe, accessible, walkable, and generally enjoyable during the winter (especially). I was terribly saddened that the SideWalk Labs weather panel idea was dismissed - I thought it made spaces much more accessible in a City that already has "risks" like potholes, uneven sidewalks, and street furniture all over the place.	10/15/2020 6:43 PM
203	Deal with the ridiculous amount of road construction going on right now. Apartment/condo construction can block off roads, intersections, etc., with what feels like zero coordination, forethought or taxpayer consideration in mind. I know some if not a lot of it is necessary, but surely you can find a better way to organize the work so it's not total gridlock - take the area around Univ - Spadina, John Street, Richmond, etc.	10/15/2020 6:29 PM
205	I am missing too many activities in central Toronto that have been cancelled - COC, LIFE Institute, Volunteer opportunities etc.	10/15/2020 4:52 PM
206	I'm curious what the hierarchy of goals is. For example, if the only way you can create a dynamic community is at the expense of inclusivity, which is paramount? There is no new information in the materials presented than I have seen previously about quayside.	10/15/2020 4:11 PM
207	It is so important the queyside to get the LRT built asap. We have spent too much time talking	10/15/2020 3:37 PM

eg with google. Also affordable housing is important but maybe Not sth for the prime waterfront site. Affordable housing should be built on those low value area. Consider to have more office and entertainment for this site as well. Lastly currently Tridel and Hines have 2 live construction sites, manage their dust as dust has gone sky and it has very negative for this whole area

208	Desperate for truly affordable housing including rent geared to income	10/15/2020 3:01 PM
209	Yes! Please don't make Quayside just like any other city neighbourhood. The timing is unfortunate. This is not about Covid or post Covid. This neighbourhood will remain for generations long after the pandemic is the stuff of history books. This is our last chance to change the face of the Waterfront which is banal, with a few exceptions, thanks to Waterfront Toronto. Where are the gorgeous images of the public realm and iconic architecture that we have seen on WT open houses in website. Where is the inspiration from other outstanding waterfront cities? While the stated goals of this survey are perfectly reasonable. They miss the mark. I think this survey fails to dream and inspire the imagination. It's a missed opportunity. You will get the answers you have written into it. Please don't miss this opportunity to do something special on this site even if you have to wait till after Covid passes and until adequate funding is available in the future. Thank you.	10/15/2020 2:56 PM
210	I am interested in Dockwall use and would like to know the plans for the Quayside in regards to having it rented out!	10/15/2020 2:20 PM

213	Low-cost housing should be permanent in the form of non-profits and cooperatives.	10/15/2020 9:15 AM
214	I would like the waterfront to be kept open, ie not closed off by large buildings. Parks, cafes, restaurants to enable people to sit and enjoy the view of Lake Ontario. Similar to the European style of keeping outdoor spaces suitable for all to enjoy.	10/15/2020 5:03 AM
215	Really hope that this doesn't end up like that new wall of buildings on the south side of Queens Quay East. You barely know that there is a lake behind those buildings. Seems like such a waste of the lakefront.	10/14/2020 11:13 PM
217	Please make sure this development is beautiful, inclusive, eco-friendly, and vibrant. Despite privacy issues, Sidewalk's proposal was very impressive and would really benefit the city. Although it is no longer a proponent and some of their ideas were absurd, please make this new project live up to the quality provided by the previous proposal. Beautiful human-scale architecture, vibrant public spaces, walkable streets, environmental sustainability, and flexible spaces are just some of the amazing things we should strive for! The city doesn't need more bland, cookie-cutter condos. We need more ideas like the Sidewalk proposal (except its privacy issues), the Aqualuna development, and the West Don Lands. Please don't disappoint us, and give us something we want. Also, please try to coordinate the development of the Port Lands (ex. Villiers Island) with this one. Despite Sidewalk's inappropriate land grab attempt, they provided a cohesive vision for all of the Port Lands. Their urban planning approach should be commended, and I hope it will inspire your organization. Good luck.	10/14/2020 9:52 PM

parkland, we should have that here. I live in Port Union, good work done here on waterfront paths, but it would be better if you could bike all the way to exhibition place

226	I know attracting visitors here is important to businesses in the area, but police presence and law enforcement must be added to ensure the area remains liveable for families (right now there is too much stunt driving happens at all hours of the night; fireworks/parties happen; garbage/polluting the lake; AirBnB rules are broken with parties that result in gunshots).	10/14/2020 3:48 PM
227	There's a lot of roads, highways, and traffic starting to happen in this area. It will get worse so noise and safety has become more important to me as a resident.	10/14/2020 3:45 PM
228	Keep up the good work WT!	10/14/2020 3:28 PM
229	Seriously consider the idea of allocating some of the land on the waterfront - Quayside/Portlands - to the development of cooperative housing projects. If you want to plan for more inclusive communities, consider housing options other than the standard private developer model. https://www.lilac.coop/	10/14/2020 2:38 PM
230	When Sidewalk Labs decided to withdraw, Toronto lost an opportunity to become a leader in developing sustainable and resilient spaces. Your choice of development partner should embody the same bold and innovative ambitions as Sidewalk Labs.	10/14/2020 2:28 PM
231	Thanks for keeping us informed about the new waterfront	10/14/2020 1:39 PM
232	Join the 21st century and look around the world a bit. Many urban centers are building more bike lanes and spaces for humans, instead of road space/parking for cars.	10/14/2020 1:17 PM

Waterfront Toronto's Survey About Quayside - October 2020

251	Incorporate the keating channel as a guideline or pleasantry for Quayside - Dining along the edge, creating a world-class canal with restaurants, boat tours, kayaking, various coloured lights along the canal - Thriving nightlife, tourism. This new opportunity should be a place to live and play. Located in Downtown, many tourists will flock here and the renewed waterfront. Think of implementing a ferris wheel, world's first fine arts market showcasing local Toronto artists, create space for buskers and performers. Think of a similar waterfront to Nyhaven, Copenhagen, Montreal place des arts, Amsterdam Canal culture etc. This should be a thriving destination, not only an affordable place to live. Many people like artists, designers, musicians, filmmakers need more studio space in the city, think of implementing cheap creative spaces for artists.	10/13/2020 5:16 PM

257	Don't make the same mistakes you did with Sidewalk Toronto. Don't keep all your cards so close to the chest, people need to know what you're thinking and doing, and where their input fits into that. Participation must begin with the vision, and power needs to be given to people - they should be trusted with it. The Sidewalk Toronto process was obviously keeping people at arms length, strategically responding to feedback. You don't need a partner like that. The people of Toronto are your partners. If you trust them, they'll trust you.	10/13/2020 4:22 PM

264	Please know that this development is incremental for Toronto. Architecture has to be beautiful, ambitious, and has to look different and innovative from the glass boxes and condos that are making the city's skyline look bland. Please look into mass timber, and drive for design excellence. Consider People-oriented streets and look at Danish design and foreign designers to develop this land. Toronto needs another place to Play and live. We need more fun things to do downtown.	10/13/2020 2:04 PM
265	I hope as the East Bayfront/Quayside neighborhood continues to be developed that green space remains an important component and that the buildings currently and future under construction are not too close together and too high that density becomes a problem (over crowding) and takes away from natural light for the community.	10/13/2020 1:59 PM

276	I was really upset about the loss of the relationship with Sidewalk Labs. My personal opinion was that the potential upside was worth working with them and accepting some risk to make it work as I think it would have been a game changer for Toronto. I hope in future we do a better job of compromising and working with companies when we get an opportunity like this. I understand that there were risks involved, but I think it is important to take risks in order to create meaningful change. I am happy to see though that you are preserving some of the values that came out of that and working to make the city more sustainable and community-oriented.	10/13/2020 12:34 PM
277	Getting down to the water. A sort of urban beach for casual interaction	10/13/2020 12:26 PM
278	We really need to look to Chicago to see how to ensure easy access to the waterfront for everyone - and not barriers of buildings and narrow walkways. We need the ability to breathe in the space and relax. Sugar Beach is fine but needs to be triple the size - or places with rocks to sit on instead of benches. Love the use of the space under the Gardiner. Need more natural plantings and playgrounds. And Covid has shown us the critical importance of easy access to outdoor spaces for all of us - and especially in the downtown core and for those in highrises. We need the intensification of housing to support services but every building should have more public or plaza space at ground level and NO buildings should block the water access! Maybe one day we can again swim in Toronto Harbour.	10/13/2020 12:23 PM
